INTRODUCTION

A copyright is a set of exclusive rights granted by a state to the creator of an original work upon disclosure of the work. Copyright is a legal term describing rights given to creators for their literary and artistic works. It covers Literary works such as novels, poems, plays, Reference works, newspapers, Films, musical compositions, and choreography, Artistic works such as paintings, drawings, photographs and sculpture, Architecture, Advertisements, maps and technical drawings, Computer programs(algorithms) and databases.

In today's world, it is very important and difficult to protect our own creation because of increasing use of internet, new devices and techniques which can be used to copy artistic or creative work. Therefore, there is a need to know about our rights to protect our intellectual property and how to enforce them to stop theft of our own work.
